Cong. Smith Talk Hits Compulsory Training for War

Speaking in opposition to compulsory military training Congressman Frederick C Smith of Marion gave a 15-minute broadcast last night at 10 15 o clock over the red network of the National Broadcasting System His talk Compulsory Military Training—For What" was sponsored by the Republican national committee

Briefly the six points on which he based his opposition follow

It would be a most effectual means to push the United States all the way into the war it would be adopting Hitler s plan for ending unemployment it would put the young men and women of this country under military control of communistic forces that now dominate our government it would weaken the first line of defense by wrecking still more our finances it would create a caste system where political corruption and favoritism would be rampant and it would be about the last thing we need to complete a communistic dictatorship

The complete text of Congressman Smith s address appears on Page 7

Main Provisions Of Compulsory Drill Bill Listed

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON July 12—Here are the principal provisions of the Burke-Wadsworth compulsory military training bill indorsed in most details today by the army high command

1 Registration of all male citizens and certain allies between the ages of 18 and 65 years of age

2 Liability for military and naval training and service imposed on all registrants between 21 and 45 liability for training and service in home defense units for those younger or older

3 A training period of eight months for each man selected for service or for a longer period if the United States is at war or if congress declares the national interest is imperiled

4 A ten-year term in the enlisted reserve following the training period with a requirement for annual training of up to one month per year for all reservists

5 Choice of men for training made by lot, drawings to be made from age group 21 to 21 until registration and classification of men 31 to 45 has been completed

6 Men to be chosen for training so far as possible on this formula' 78 to 87 per cent in age group 21 to 31, 10 to 15 per cent in age group 31 to 38, and 3 to 7 per cent in 38 to 45 groups.

7 Authority vested in President to defer training for men whose employment in other work is found necessary President may determine number to be called at any time

NAVY AWARDS DEFENSE WORK

Contracts for $136,743,900 Improvements Awarded for Pacific, Atlantic Coasts.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON July 12 — The navy department awarded 23 contracts totaling $136 743 900 today as a part of the vast program to build up the nation s Pacific and Atlantic defenses

To help bolster western defenses contracts totaling $30-870 000 were let for aviation facilities in the Pacific including Pearl Harbor and the nation s other island possessions In the east one contract alone provided $24 204 000 for aviation shore facilities at the naval Quonset Point air station in Rhode Island

A formidable army striking force of some 6 000 tanks—several hundred of htem huge land battle ships—was disclosed today as one major objective in President Roosevelt s new $4 848 171 957 preparedness program

Persons familiar with the plans behind the dollar marks said that the intention was to double the total of 3 100 tanks which now are either in service on order or covered by appropriation

Only Germany they said possesses a tank force of such potential striking power according to available information The projected American equipment they explained would include squadrons rivaling the 70-ton tanks" which spearheaded victorious Nazi thrusts in Europe

Arms for 1 200,000 Men

Signs multiplied meanwhile, that the war department was thinking in terms of an army of 1 200 000 troops—the bulk of it to be raised within the next few months by compulsory military training

The recruiting drive now in progress aims at building up the regular arm to 280 000 men by Aug 30 A 1 200 000 force would include national guard units, now mustering more than 200 000

Gen George C Marshall, chief of staff urging compulsory service declared yesterday

We must have an increase in our armed forces and we can not expect to get it on a voluntary basis

He gave advance notice that the war department was prepared to accept, with minor amendments the Burke-Wadsworth compulsory training bill now in the hearing stage on Capitol Hill

From other sources it was learned the general staff is convinced that 1,200,000 men should be put under arms as soon as possible and trained for any emergency

In this connection, it was said, congress eventually will be told that the $4,000,000,000 already appropriated or asked for the army is $2,000 000,000 short of the amount needed to put 1,200 000 fully equipped men in the field, and provide arms for an additional 800,000 in reserve

President Tells Press He Won't Go To Chicago

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON July 12—President Roosevelt said at a press conference today he definitely would not go to Chicago to attend the Democratic convention but again he avoided every question designed to bring about a disclosure of his third term stand

The Chief Executive was asked whether if he did go to Chicago he would fly Throwing back his head and laughing Mr Roosevelt said he thought he had a right to be insulted as the question following his statement that he would not go to the convention city was a slur on his veracity

Not Planning Trip

Mr Roosevelt s hearers interpreted his flat statement that he would not go to Chicago to mean that not only would he not be there during the convention but also that he would not go there in event of a draft nomination, to make an acceptance speech

The President appeared to be in high good humor as he met the press for the last time before his party opens its quadrennial meeting Monday

Replying to questions the Chief Executive said his plans for the summer called for him to spend alternate week-ends on cruises down the potomac river and at his home at Hyde Park N Y

Asked whether the plans would hold regardless of what happens at Chicago Mr Roosevelt said he could see no connection between the two adding that after all he was President of the United States

Dunce Caps Recalled

Finally a reporter recalling that the President on previous occasions had told newsmen who inquired about his third term views to don dunce caps and stand in the corner remarked that the dunce cap club would have a meeting in Chicago to dissolve the organization and turn in the caps

Could we hope to have from you as founder of the club he asked some sort of communication to the dissolution meeting"

The president grinned again said he would have to look at the membership list first and added that the progress that had been made on the whole had been pretty good Quite a percentage of people who used to stand in the corner he explained are now back at their desks in the school room but he said the corner still was not empty

He thought perhaps the dunce caps should be turned over to women correspondents for their ultimate disposal rather than placed in his library at Hyde Park

FIVE WOMEN DIE IN BLAZE AT CINCINNATI

Seven Critically Burned; Many Others Led to Safety by Rescue Squads.

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI July 12 — Five persons died at least seven were injured and between 25 and 30 others rescued today amid flames that destroyed the Holy Family home on grounds of old St Francis hospital in the West End

Fire Chief Barney J Houston advanced a theory of incendiarism in describing the blaze as the worst of its kind here in more than 30 years

Houston tentatively estimated loss at $50 000

The dead all of whom were inmate-employes were

Mary Rose Watkins 42 Mary Theders of Cincinnati Minnie Brandhoff 57 of Hamilton Regina Niekamp 45 and Rosaline Burns 41

Miss Brandhoff was a sister of George Brandhoff chairman of the Butler county board of elections and had been an inmate of the home for more than two years

Rescue Workers Hurt

Theresa Bukarl 78 formerly of Cleveland and Jennie Kensler widow of nearby Dayton Ky were the most seriously injured both suffering burns Five firemen and policemen were hurt to lesser degree

The blaze started in the basement of the rambling three-story and attic brick building and was detected about 1 a m

Nineteen fire companies responded to the alarm

Nearby in the main hospital building were 245 aged and helpless patients including members of the sisterhood said 150 hopeless incurables

Many occupants of the building were led to safety down fire escapes Others were rescued by volunteers and firemen through window

Those fatally burned were found huddled in corners One victim Mary Theders was found in the linen closet which she apparently entered in the belief she had reached a outside door

Returns tto Death

"One went back to get her clothes and that was the last we saw of her a hospital attache said

Arthur Jahn 29 an engineer said he and five other persons were in the basement of the building when the fire was discovered

Police Maj Elmer O Neil saw the blaze as he was passing in an automobile and said he heard persons shouting save me

O Neil helped carry four of the trapped occupants down fire escapes while four hospital employes went from room to room arousing patients and cautioning them against panic

The damage was estimated at $50 000

The Holy Family home was established 51 years ago when the hospital was erected by Sisters of the Poor of St Francis

The fire was prevented from spreading to the main hospital building only 75 feet from the damaged structure

Police Will Teach You How To Park Your Car Under New Parallel Plan

Marion motorists perplexed by the adoption of parallel parking in the uptown district, will get an opportunity to learn how to park properly

City Safety-Service Director Clyde C Caldwell today announced plans for a 'parking school' to be held next week under the supervision of city police and state highway patrolmen There will be no tuition, no classes and no diplomas but city officials believe drivers will be greatly rewarded if they learn to park properly, easily and quickly—and without scraping fenders against other parked cars

The "school" will operate like this

Practice parking spaces, identical to those in the uptown district have been marked off on Vernon Heights boulevard and on Uncapher avenue and the pulbic has been invited to practice up at these places The locations, just south of Mt Vernon on Vernon Heights boulevard, and near the Marion Steam Shovel Co athletic field on Uncapher were selected because traffic there usually is light

On Monday and Tuesday from 10 a m. to 3 p m officers will be stationed at the two points to explain the proper method of parking to all interested

The instruction will be continued after Tuesday if sufficient interest is shown during the first two days to justify assigning officers for that purpose, Mr Caldwell said

KING NARROWLY MISSES ATTACK

Monarch Endangered While Visiting Troops; Britain Fights To Save Food.

By The Associated Press

Swift rising British Spitfires slashed back at German bombers over the island kingdom today shooting down eight of the raiders in flames after King George VI narrowly escaped a heavy Nazi attack

In a Scottish town one bomb killed 10 persons as far as known Many others were wounded The German invador was shot down and its crew perished as the bullet sieved plane crashed and burst afire

Nazi fighting and Stuka dive bombing planes sank five ships totaling 30,000 tons in the English channel yesterday, the German high command said

Bomb fires were started at Portsmouth and Burton-on-Trent it added and port facilities at Plymouth and Lowestoft were hit by aerial explosives

King George escaped possible harm from German raiders by a matter of minutes it was disclosed

World War Veterans

The sovereign, who saw action in the World war naval battle of Jutland was reported visiting his troops somewhere in southern England at the time of the German bomb assault

Prime Minister Winston Churchill s government faced with Nazi threats of a U-boat starvation blockade of the British Isles tightened control to bolster the home front and considered imposing a scientific diet on the island kingdom s densely-packed millions to save on food supplies

One plan called for taking over fields which farmers were failing to make yield the last possible ounce of foodstuffs.

While Hitler s quickening campaign of air raids and undersea attacks plagued the British at home the Italian high command reported Fascist air successes in a new attack on the British Mediterranean fleet

Italian planes again located and bombed the British naval squadron which engaged in the Ionian sea battle earlier this week the high command said setting an aircraft carrier aflame and seriously damaging two destroyers.

The Italian communique injecting a dash of drama into the usually prosaic official accounts, said that the battle raged for several hours near Malta and that our squadrons descended through mist and violent anti-aircraft fire' to within a few hundred yards of the British surface ships

The aircraft carrier, struck by a heavy-calibre bomb stopped suddenly with flames on board visible from above Several ships speeded to its aid

London Denies Report

This Italian account brought a quick retort from official British quarters in London, which declared

'Wild claims made in the Italian communique today regarding attacks on the British fleet in the eastern Mediterranean are untrue "

They added that Italian bombers attacked eight times but the only damage was that "one of our fighters became unserviceable after landing "

GEN. MARSHALL WOULD CALL MEN AT ONCE

Army Chief Recommends Immediate Training Period For Troops.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON July 12—General George C Marshall said today he favored mobilizing the national guard immediately for training

The army chief of staff made the statement to the senate military committee before which he indorsed subject to some minor' amendments the Burke-Wadsworth bill for compulsory training on a selective basis of all male citizens 21 to 45

In this connection he said he believed that at the start of any training program the national guard with its 230 000 men available on first mobilization should be called up first

Asked subsequently whether he desired to mobilize the national guard immediately ' he replied affirmatively

A war department official told the senate committee that the army would have 930,000 men in training by Oct 11 if congress enacted the compulsory military training bill

1 418 000 by April

Col H 1 Twaddle, the department s training expert testified that this number would increase to 1 418 000 by April of next year He estimated the cost of the training program at $1,000 000 000 the first year and about $760 000 000 for each succeeding year

He also discussed that the war department s 'protective mobilization plan called for an initial force of 1 200 000 men that 'could be used in the theater of operations of short notice if need be

The testimony indicated that this striking force would be composed of the army, guard and enough conscripts and trained reserves to fill out the complement Other trained men apparently would go into reserve units

Colonel Twaddle appeared before the committee with Gen Marshall

General Marshall indicated that the army s plan of action, depending on enactment of the conscription legislation would be to mobilize the guard s 230 000 men at least four weeks in advance of conscription

Thus if conscription was to be achieved by Oct 1 the guard would have to be mobilized by Sept 1

Colonel Twaddle said his figure for the total force which could be under training by Oct 1 was composed of 30 000 in the regular army 230 000 in the guard and 400 000 conscripts

Mobilization of the guard was considered meanwhile in a White House conference between President Roosevelt and Secretary of War Stimson

Urges 18 Month Period

Colonel Twaddle urged that the training period be for 18 months The Burke-Wadsworth bill provides for eight months training The German French and Japanese armies all have had the rule of two years of compulsory training the officer said

A navy spokesman Rear Admiral C W Nimitz chief of the bureau of navigation who approved the legislation provided some changes were made, said that 12 months constituted the minimum period in which a man could be trained adequately for naval service

Admiral Nimitz said the navy now has 140 000 men and will

2,000 Turkeys Thriving on Marion Co. Farm

Established recently and now in operation near Waldo is a turkey farm which is thought to be one of the largest in northcentral Ohio Its present population is 2 000 birds which are being prepared for Thanksgiving sales and the number will be increased soon by the addition of 1 000 to 1 500 birds which are to be raised for the Christmas market

The farm located two miles southwest of Waldo on state route 47 is under the managership of Irvin Knickel who last year organized the Morrow County Turkey club an association of raisers All of the 2 000 birds on hand at present were started from day-old hatchings last May For the first six to eight weeks they were cared for in a battery of 10 brooder houses and since have been turned out on the range

To Start Second Group

Second group of the day-old birds is expected to come from the hatchery within the next few weeks They are being furnished through the Ridgway Duck Hatchery at LaRue When they are ready for marketing they will be shipped to points throughout Ohio and neighboring states.

Mr Knickel who is a native of Waldo promoted the establishment of the farm He pointed out that under present conditions Ohio farmers do not raise enough turkeys for consumption within the state and that many are shipped here from western states, especially Texas That condition together with the fact that a national survey reveals that fewer birds are being grown this year than last were among several factors which led to the opening of the farm

Others in Club

Approximately 12 000 turkeys will be raised by members of the turkey club formed by Mr Knickle including those on the farm which he manages. Others belonging to the club and participating in the project are Lemoin Rinehart Mrs W H Jones Mrs Edith Carson Charles Healea Ivory Schonard and Asa Taylor all of near Mt. Gilead Karl Rens of near Cardington Mrs Emerson of near Marengo and Fred Draper of near Chesterville

The club was organized to disseminate information on the raising and marketing of turkeys, with plans mapped out for a cooperative plan of distribution of the birds Mr Knickle in addition to devoting a major share of his efforts to turkey-raising gives considerable time to the raising of Ohio Improved Chester White hogs

JUDGE WON'T RESIGN POST

Disbarred Clevelander Hangs On to $750 a Month Judicial Position.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, July 12—David Copland, disbarred for life as an attorney but still a Cleveland municipal judge, maintained a steadfast refusal today to resign his $750-a-month position.

The 51-year-old jurist reports daily to his city hall chambers but has not been assigned a case since May 31. Then, Common Pleas Judge Charles R. Sargent of Jefferson, O., pronounced:

"David Copland should no longer be entrusted with the right to practice law. David Copland is disbarred."

The action was taken after Copland concocted a fictitious legal opinion and caused it to be published as an actual decision in the Ohio Law Reporter [illegible] and after the Scotland-born jurist misrepresented his educational qualifications.

Judge Sargent ruled he lacked jurisdiction on other charges brought by a Cleveland Bar association committee that Copland distributed [illegible] and beauty compacts to voters in 1935 when he was elected to his present term expiring Dec. 31, 1941.

He has had no assignments since the first of June, Burt C. Griffin, chief justice of municipal court, explained today.

"I have not been giving him any cases and I see no reason now to change my mind — unless, of course, the [illegible] be reversed by a higher court."

In an opinion prepared at Griffin's request, City Law Director [illegible] S. Brainard ruled Copland's salary must continue "until he has been removed from office or [illegible] proceedings have been instituted."

Copland declared he felt "the salary goes with the position, not the individual."

"I've [illegible] indicated ultimately [illegible] I'm ready to [illegible] are assigned. It's no fault of mine they are not assigned. And I [illegible] on new [illegible] old cases."

Copland said: "I don't intend to run [illegible] murderers get better [illegible] in the newspapers [illegible]."

The [illegible] marked [illegible] day [illegible] Copland [illegible] no spared [illegible] time to [illegible] and [illegible] regime [illegible] reading, solitaire, doodling [illegible] tic-tac-toe and other judicial pursuits."

Sawyer's Defeat as Committeeman Aim of Group Directed by Poulson

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., July 12—A group of Democratic leaders headed by former State Chairman Francis W. Poulson today claimed enough strength to oust Charles Sawyer and Mildred J. Jaster from the Democratic national committee.

Sawyer is the "favorite son" presidential candidate of the Ohio delegation to the Democratic convention opening Monday in Chicago.

After a four-hour conference last night Poulson's group said it was assured 27—and probably 30—of the 52 Ohio delegate votes or enough to accomplish its objective.

Clique Picks Heer

Walter F. Heer, Franklin county (Columbus) Democratic chairman, was picked to replace Sawyer, a Cincinnatian who was the Democratic nominee for governor in 1938. An opponent for Mrs. Jaster, a Cleveland resident, will be selected later.

Reported at the conference were representatives of the national administration and former Gov. George White, a close associate of Martin L. Davey, democratic nominee for governor and erstwhile associates of Sawyer.

Poulson, who nominated Sawyer for national committeeman in 1936 had hoped to succeed him but yielded to Heer to strengthen the anti-Sawyer movement.

The Ohio delegation will meet at the Palmer House in Chicago at 9:30 a. m., Monday to elect the state's two representatives on the Democratic national committee.

Poulson declared his group was "1,000 per cent" for the renomination of President Roosevelt "on the first ballot" and at no time would favor the nomination of Sawyer for president or vice president.

Really For Roosevelt

While the delegation is nominally pledged to Sawyer, it is in reality committed to Mr. Roosevelt if he wants a third term.

Poulson declared that Sawyer lacked aggressiveness and as a result fortunes of the Democratic party in Ohio had declined since he became national committeeman four years ago.

"The Democrats," said the former state chairman, "have lost to the Republicans the state administration, one senator and more than half their congressional representation, the state headquarters has deteriorated and the state executive committee is saddled with a debt of $20,000 which was incurred in promoting Mr. Sawyer's candidacy for governor in 1938."

Poulson has had little love for Sawyer, particularly since he tried unsuccessfully to obtain a place on the convention delegation.

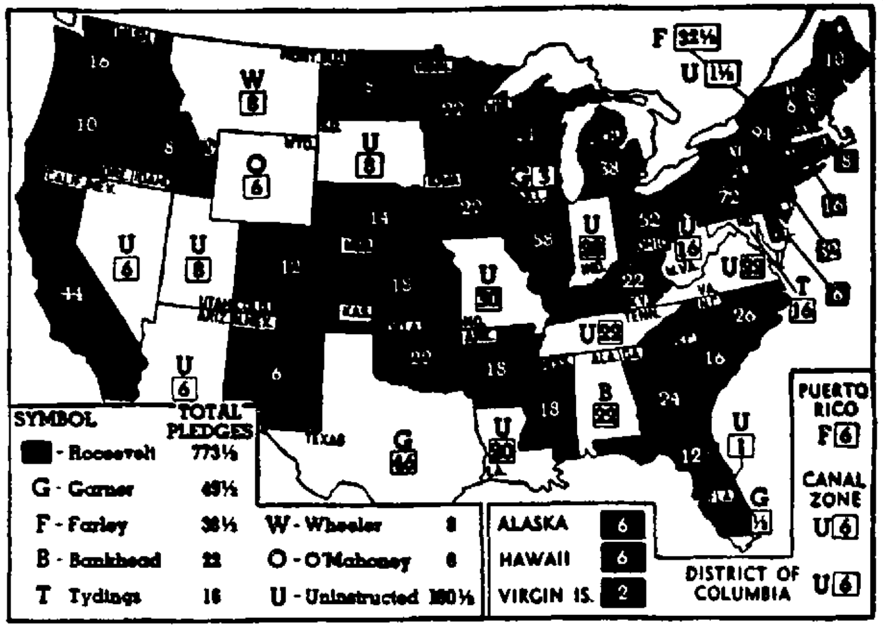
It's Roosevelt's (If He Wants It)



By The Associated Press

Pre-convention summaries showed President Roosevelt could be fairly certain of 773½ votes pledged to his nomination. The necessary majority is 551. Even on the first ballot the Roosevelt vote could run well more than 900, absorbing the Farley pledges in Massachusetts, the Tydings pledges in Maryland, and a big slice of the unpledged vote. Roosevelt's straight-out pledges number only 487, while 268 Roosevelt votes are only semi-pledged. For instance, the Ohio vote is nominally pledged to Charles Sawyer, who headed a Roosevelt slate. The territorial vote (Alaska, Hawaii, etc.), as shown above, may not be fully represented at the convention. Areas in black show Roosevelt's vote.

Trouble Doubles Up for Crestline Motor Car Driver

Special to The Star

CRESTLINE, O., July 12—Troubles piled up this week on Harold Griefenstein, 30, of Crestline. Tuesday night he accidentally shattered the index finger of his right hand. In his handicapped efforts to get to a doctor he ran afoul of the law and yesterday he paid $25 and costs in the court of Mayor L. F. Waldbauer following a hearing on a reckless driving charge.

He was placed under arrest on the charge when he emerged Wednesday night from Emergency hospital here where the finger was amputated.

According to Mayor Waldbauer, a friend living near here called Mr. Griefenstein Tuesday night and asked him to come to the farm and shoot a cross dog. As Mr. Griefenstein was taking his gun out of his automobile it accidentally went off, shattering his finger.

He jumped into the car and started back to Crestline for a doctor. Several residents along Seltzer street called police about a man who was zigzagging his automobile across the street, according to the mayor. Patrolman C. Gielman stopped Griefenstein and, learning what had happened, took him to Emergency hospital where it was found necessary to perform an amputation operation.

Mayor Waldbauer said that Mr. Griefenstein told him he was excited and scared after the accident, which accounted for his unorthodox handling of the automobile. He is employed in the Pennsylvania railroad yard here.

ABOUT ANYTHING

In and Around Marion

Offensive Noise

Little things can receive a lot of official attention sometimes. At council meeting the other night, officials were threatening punishment if boys vending ice cream bars didn't refrain from yelling "Ice cream" as they went along their routes. Officials contended that tiny bells on their vending boxes should suffice in attracting the attention of customers.

Shortly after this discussion, and before council meeting was half over, a young, shrill-throated cry of "Ice cream," accompanied by a tinkling bell, was heard just outside the council chamber. Mayor Snare tip-toed back the hall to police station, and a moment later a policeman went outside to quiet the offensive salesman.

WEIR LOSES ROUND IN NLRB BATTLE

Board Rules Against Steel Co. in 4-Year Fight.

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, July 12 — The $125,000,000 Weirton (W. Va.) Steel company headed by Ernest T. Weir, New Deal foe who successfully battled the NRA, today lost the first round in a four-year fight against the Wagner labor act, which Weir had opposed as "government interference in business."

Issuing a preliminary decision in its longest and costliest case, the national labor relations board ordered the concern to disestablish dependent "company unions" at plants in Weirton, W. Va., and Steubenville, O. Seventeen of 300 employes who claimed they were dismissed for "outside" union activity were ordered reinstated with back pay.

The company was also directed to "cease physical assaults on union employes or inciting others to such action." The decision said that "special watchmen" employed by the company "roamed the streets, trailed C.I.O. sympathizers and assaulted S.W.O.C. organizers." The C.I.O. called the watchmen a "hatchet gang."

The board dismissed however, a petition by the C.I.O. steel workers organizing committee seeking recognition as bargaining agent for the 12,000 employes of the company, main unit of the National Steel corporation of which Weir is chairman. The board held the S.W.O.C. had not established a majority among the employes.

Weir is Republican national finance chairman.

The Works and the Star of Destiny

IF AMERICA'S good and bad neighbors will steal a minute from whatever they're doing to look this way, they will see that the United States now has piled up about $10,000,000,000 in funds and contract authorizations to arm itself like nobody's business. If it's strong-arm stuff the other nations want, Uncle Samson's willing to give their hobby the works.

Ten billion is more than any of them could dream of handling at once, and the whole thing's been done here without batting an eye. Even a billion dollars' worth of new taxes produced no squawking. "Fine thing," judged the folks at the crossroad. "We'd be glad to pay 10 times that much if necessary." And they could—if necessary.

What Americans want their good and bad neighbors to understand is that national defense has become a kind of hobby with them, like preserving the buffalo. The strongest country on earth is putting its back and brain into the job of saving a kind of world in which a man can call his soul his own; it's the new national project.

The United States has more resources than any two aggressor nations can muster between them. It has an agricultural surplus. It has the world's greatest industrial organization. Everything included, the United States is capable of becoming a military power which will make other military powers look like children playing soldier—and at last it has decided to realize its potentialities.

THERE'S considerably more to the proposition than mere brute force. The United States does not propose to use its power to hurt anyone or anything which respects its rights. It wants no territory, covets no strayed or stolen minorities, seeks no revenge, has no pet peeves. It aims to be a gentle giant. In the words of a former president who had a little something to do with making the United States aware of its military possibilities, this country intends to carry a bigger stick than any nation ever shouldered before—just carry it, unless someone wants to play rough.

Off and on for years—ever since the World war—farsighted men have been talking about the star of destiny moving ever westward from the orient, across southern Europe, up to Great Britain and, finally, to the United States. They meant that in every age one nation had to be strong, one nation had to hold the balance of power. Great Britain has played the role for years. America, the farsighted men said, would be next. They didn't know how it would happen, but it was in the books.

As anyone can see with half an eye the thing which has happened in Germany under Adolf Hitler is a counter-revolution. Germany isn't the dominant power in Europe today because it's strong but because it was less weak than nations like France, which are played out and ready to let tyrants slip a collar on them. Europe's war is a struggle to see who can hold out the longest, and the survivor won't be much better off than his victims. But just in case he has enough strength left to generate any irregular ambitions, the United States is whittling the biggest national defense club in all history.

Of course, the club won't be ready for awhile, but then neither will the aggressor, if any and if ever. And when it is ready, by the token that the side which can "git thar fustest with the mostest men"—the basis of all sound military tactics—runs the show, Americans will be in position to say that when the star of destiny moved across the Atlantic it found their country ready to help build a better, more peaceful world than ever had existed before. European papers please copy.

The Warning Click

UNDER the formula of cooperative aggression, Japan's agitation over an "insult" by U. S. marines plainly means the battle of Britain is about to begin.

The same plan in the past has called for Japan and Italy to distract British attention from Germany at crucial moments. Every time a new conquest was scheduled Great Britain was given something to worry about in the orient or the Mediterranean.

According to the same strategy it now would be desirable to give the United States a stiff scare about the possibility of war with Japan lest when Germany begins its final drive against Britain the possibility of intervention appear too real for Germany's comfort.

As long as Japan is threatening trouble the U. S. fleet must remain in the Pacific, and it would be the fleet which might save the British from the Hitlerian conquest in a tight battle. Common sense warns that the "incident" which the Japanese have created is the warning distraction. The battle of Britain is about to begin; the United States is being given something to think about on the other side of the world.

Friendly little people, the Japanese.

News Behind the News

Defense Commission Labor Division Reported To Appear Free from Political Influence.

By PAUL MALLON

Paul Mallon

WASHINGTON, July 12 — The non-political manner in which the new national defense commission is operating apparently extends also to the labor division.

Some of the A. F. of L. leaders had their fingers crossed since the C.I.O.er, Sidney Hillman, was appointed by Mr. Roosevelt as labor coordinator of the commission. A group from federation headquarters went over to see him about troubles arising between the preponderant number of building trades workers in A.F.L. on the one side and a small new building organization (United Construction Workers) which John Lewis has started in C.I.O. on the other.

Hillman told them straight he considered the C.I.O. group largely a paper organization. He left the impression he had opposed formation of the competitive union as a leader in C.I.O.

A. F. of L. callers went away with what they understood to be assurances there would be no trouble from that quarter.

G-Men Busy

A vast amount of fantastic tips and legitimate information on fifth columnist machinations and bomb plots—many times more than has been made public—has deluged the federal bureau of investigation. J. Edgar Hoover has been unable to keep an office engagement for a month and will schedule none for the future.

War Strategy

Best war planners on this side of the Atlantic have reached rather general agreement on the tactics Hitler is likely to employ in a conquest of England.

British defensive troops are massed in the center of their island on the natural theory that they can be rushed in greatest force to points where the heaviest landings are effected. The coastline is much too long to be defended in force throughout its length, and no other course appears to be open to the British.

But this method opens the way for Hitler to use a deceptive strategic technique. By attempting landings at several points simultaneously, and distributing his initial forces so as to draw the bulk of Britain's mobile interior force to certain out of the way points, he could readily prepare the way for pushing his greatest concealed reserve units in at the least guarded portal.

Chicago Possibility

The point may have been overlooked publicly, but not by the politicos, that Mr. Roosevelt could be renominated by acclamation at Chicago before Garner and the other candidates could even be placed in nomination.

When the roll of states is called in alphabetical order for the presentation of candidates, each state chairman, starting with Alabama, could arise and say simply: "I place in nomination the name of Franklin Delano Roosevelt."

By the time the call reached the T's for a nominating speech on Garner, Mr. Roosevelt could have acquired a sufficient number of votes to have brought the show to a conclusion.

In that case convention managers would have difficulty keeping the convention going beyond Thursday night.

Conference

Mr. Roosevelt did not get a word in edgewise at his last pre-convention conference with the big four in congress — Bankhead, Barkley, Rayburn and Garner. They talked politics, mostly Republican politics. Willkie was preferred as a subject of conversation, but there seemed no agreement on how strong a candidate he might prove to be. The Farley conference at Hyde Park, in which the hidden ball was passed to the national chairman, was not mentioned.

Smart Moves

The Republicans in congress (not at all very friendly originally to the Willkie candidacy) are gleeful and encouraged by what they see as the wisdom of the few moves the candidate has made so far. Choice of Joe Martin for national chairman was a brilliant strategical maneuver. Ex-Chairman Hamilton never got along well with the congressional groups. Martin is their idol. By giving Martin the supreme place, Willkie bound up the wounds from the convention. Retention of Hamilton at the same salary in a technical capacity satisfied that committee wing, and the designation of Russell Davenport as a personal director not only rescued the campaign from a dangerous personnel situation but attained every personal objective Willkie wanted.

Famine Threatens Europe

Hunger Seen Preparing Greater Cataclysm Than War.

REDUCED to fundamentals, Europe's struggle always is for food. All the rest is secondary—the land, seaports, trade routes, colonial possessions and so on. They all add up to the means of satisfying hunger.

That is the situation year in and year out, in war and peace. Europe must eat. A dense population forces it to seek food in an ever-widening area. European nations never are self-sufficient even in essential commodities. They must depend on outside sources — outside their own boundaries and frequently outside Europe itself—not only for such things as coffee and sugar, but for grain, meat, fats and starches.

Forward looking commentators are beginning to point out the specter of famine hovering over the continent. C. L. Sulzberger, writing from Istanbul, reported in the New York Times Magazine last Sunday that a diplomat recently told him "hunger will soon be a greater cataclysm than war."

THREE causes of food shortage exist. Europe has had an unfavorable growing season. Its agricultural manpower has been used for purposes other than production of foodstuffs. Its sources of supply outside Europe have been cut off.

Mr. Sulzberger declares that many European peasants think the end of the world is coming. "Agriculturally speaking," he writes, "this may be the worst year Europe has experienced in decades, unless the favorable weather just beginning lasts through the summer and fall.

"The coldest winter in recent years froze over the continent, chilling the earth even before shells began to spread scars over its face. The early freeze hardened the ground deeply before a protective cover of snow fell, and then the drifts lay deep all winter. Starved wolves came down in droves to forage in Balkan villages.

"When the freeze loosened and furrows were once more plowed in the autumn-sown acres, torrential floods began. Many great river systems from the Danube to the Don overflowed their basins, inundating nearby regions and hampering spring planting. Then came a period of warm, dry weather and seeds were poured into the earth by determined peasants.

"Once more came torrents, sweeping away acres of young seeds and over-running pasture lands and fodder areas, with a resultant thinning of cattle and reduction of milk and beef supplies, as well as drowning thousands of pigs in Hungary's and Yugoslavia's Vojvodina and Banat provinces. For seven weeks in the spring and early summer rain was an almost daily phenomenon in the Balkans and central Europe."

EUROPE'S food problem has been complicated further by dislocation of transportation facilities. War supplies are moved first. Millions of refugees—consuming food but producing none—are on the move. Food prices are rising. Peasants, sensing danger, are beginning to hoard grain. Farmers of conquered nations cannot be expected to redouble their efforts to produce commodities which they know will be used to feed their conquerors.

The British blockade is based, of course, on the theory that no nation can dominate Europe without first finding a way to feed it. Germany has created the specter of hunger for the continent and must find ways to deal with it. That was Napoleon's downfall; he didn't know how to beat hunger. When the pinch comes, as it must come sooner or later, the conqueror must explain to his followers and his victims why he is unable to feed them.

Great Britain's peril is almost as great as the continent's, despite its fleet. Germany plans to starve the British population with submarine and air raids on shipping, but success would not add to the dwindling supply of food available to Germany and other nations on the continent. Russia, which never yet has succeeded in raising enough foodstuffs to feed itself, will be of no help. In areas untouched by the war and blessed with good weather the total crop even if seized by the militant nations would be only a drop in the bucket.

Even the North sea fishing industry has not escaped the general convulsion, Mr. Sulzberger points out in his survey. Explosions and the release of thousands of barrels of oil have killed myriads of fish, besides wrecking the fishing industry by holding its fleets in port. The writer quotes a Balkan ruler as saying, "Europe started off the previous war like a bear in autumn with her sides covered with fat. Even then she almost collapsed through weakness. This time she is in the condition of a weak bear thinned by the winter's sleep; and who knows whether she will be able to stand the strain?"

The German government transmitted to Paris a favorable reply to Foreign Minister Aristide Briand's proposal for a pan-European federation. The reply requested German "equality" and a revision of the Versailles treaty as Germany's price for cooperation. In asking general disarmament for the sake of effecting German "equality" with the rest of Europe, press dispatches said, conformed to the sentiments of Premier Mussolini of Italy whose reply to the federation proposal emphatically demanded complete land, sea and air disarmament as a necessary prelude to an economic federation designed to recapture Europe's faltering hold on world trade.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Monday, July 12, 1920.

Misses Lola and Mela Raymer of Cleveland, former residents of Marion, were visiting friends here.

The Standard Oil Co. purchased the property at the corner of State and Church streets from J. G. Leffler.

Miss Mary Reed of Mt. Vernon and Fred S. Cheney of Marion were united in marriage at First Presbyterian church in Mt. Vernon by Rev. W. H. Shields.

Representative Nicholas Longworth of Cincinnati and Mrs. Longworth, the former Miss Alice Roosevelt, were overnight guests of Senator and Mrs. Harding at their Marion home. Mr. Longworth told newspapermen that he discussed many phases of the political situation and campaign with Mr. Harding. He said, "I am very glad to find that we agree absolutely on the general situation and on the issues." Senator Harding began to devote himself entirely to the work of clearing up correspondence and completing his speech of acceptance. A letter from Maj. Frank Knox, publisher of the Manchester, N. H., Union and Leader, told Mr. Harding that New England would go solidly for the Republican ticket. Maj. Knox was floor leader for Gen. Wood at the Chicago convention. Alice Carey Risley of Columbia, Mo., president of the National Association of Army Nurses of the Civil War, wrote, "Hearty greetings to the incoming president of the United States from the National president, Army Nurses of the Civil war." The Marion Retail Merchants bureau voted to close all stores of the city on July 22, the date for the presidential notification ceremonies. Raymond Robbins of Chicago, one of the leaders of the former Progressive party, announced following a conference with Mr. Harding that he and the senator were in substantial agreement on the fundamentals of the labor question and progressive legislation. Mr. Robbins was accompanied here by Walter F. Brown, national Republican leader of Toledo, who introduced the Chicagoan to newspapermen as a former coal miner at Tennessee and Colorado.

On The Record

Eventual Clash of German, Russian and Italian Interests Expected.

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

Dorothy Thompson

THE attempt of the French to come to terms with their conquerors by setting up a Fascist government in France may give them for a short time the illusion that they are not really conquered, but have become one of the victorious gang. But sooner or later it is to be expected that ideology will prove to be less important than conflicting national interests, unless the Fascist ideology goes a lot further to the Left than it has done already and merges into something indistinguishable from international socialism. This, too, is possible. But it has not happened yet.

The building of Pan-Europe—Pan-Fascist Europe—is being accomplished by the Hitler regime, but it is being done by a partnership, not by an individual, and with Russia as a not altogether silent partner. As long as there is anything left on the globe for the Fascist powers to conquer, the Axis will probably stick together. But it is a mistake, I believe, to think that eventually the various tendencies now latent and submerged will not manifest themselves openly.

The interests of Germany and Italy, of Italy and Russia, and of Russia and Germany are not identical. Mussolini certainly still cherishes his dream of a Roman empire. In practical terms that means a Latin Union: Italy, France, Spain, Portugal, with control of the Mediterranean, Adriatic and Aegean Seas and the whole of northern Africa and the Near East.

Italy Growing

Italian vital statisticians have been ready to present to every foreign correspondent figures to prove that Italy is rapidly becoming a more numerous nation than France, by reason of her larger birth rate. I believe that it is true that there are some two million more Italians today between the ages of 20 and 45 than there are Frenchmen, even though the populations of the two countries at the outbreak of the war were approximately the same. Italy is "younger" than France, from a demographic viewpoint. And the French losses in the war, which are between one and two million men, will increase the discrepancy. The Latin Union idea has existed for a long time. In 1935 it looked as if it might be possible to wean France away from England into close cooperation with Italy. Pierre Laval, in France, was the chief proponent of this idea. Laval was anti-English and thought highly of the "natural" "racial" ties between France and Italy.

The success of the Eden policy at Geneva, or rather the half success which resulted in sanctions against Italy with the collaboration of France, but sanctions so half-heartedly applied that they were valueless in stopping the Ethiopian War, actually drove Mussolini into alliance with Hitler—an alliance that neither he nor the Italian people really welcomed. Mussolini at that time became convinced that his Latin Union could be achieved only by the conquest of France and her forcible detachment from the British alliance. The Italian-French Union, which in 1935 might have been effected on some basis of equality—so runs the argument—now is effected forcibly under the leadership of Rome.

Roman Empire

For this idea of the Roman Empire of Latin race, the collaboration of Franco and of a Portuguese government that can be sundered from Britain, is also essential.

Undoubtedly Mussolini at present is, to an extent, supporting

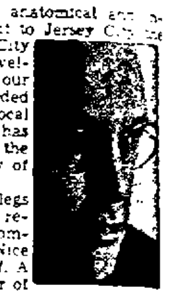
Sights In Jersey

A Visitor Learns Mayor Hague Rules Some of the Shapeliest Gams To Be Found in America.

By DAMON RUNYON



Damon Runyon

THE LADIES of Jersey City have exceptionally beautiful legs. They are uniformly shapely from ankle to knee. They have delicately curving calves. Not too thin. Not too fat. The bones are straight. Seldom do you see a Jersey City lady whose legs have the contour of half-hoops. They are nearly all encased in well-fitting silk stockings.

We made this important anatomical and industrial discovery on a visit to Jersey City the other evening. The Jersey City Chamber of Commerce is welcome to the use of any of our observations as here recorded in the exploitation of a local feature which probably has been less publicized than the influence on the community of Mayor Frank Hague.

It is quite possible the legs of the ladies of Jersey City reflect the civic spirit of the community. Strong. Graceful. Nice to look at. That sort of stuff. A good secretary of a Chamber of Commerce ought to be able to make much of this. We think it is much better publicity than Mayor Hague's tight collars.

The legs of the ladies of Jersey City came to our attention accidentally. That is the way most discoveries of importance are made. We did not go to Jersey City with any thought of viewing the legs of the ladies.

WHAT we went to Jersey City to see was supposed to be an exposition of the manly art of self defense by Messrs. Tony Galento and Max Baer.

Fast footwork. Skillful blocking and slipping of punches, feinting and countering. We regret to say we would have had just as good a time and seen far more science by going to the local abatoir and watching 'em ping porkers.

The speediest method of getting to Jersey City from Manhattan Island is by way of the Hudson tubes, which is the route we pursued. It requires much going up and down stairs and also the use of escalators in getting to and from the trains. As our journey over was made around the rush hour of 6 o'clock the passenger traffic was heavy. Among the travelers were hundreds of ladies residing in Jersey City.

It was in going up the stairs and escalators that we discovered the legs. Going down stairs we were conscious of nothing more than a tide of funny hats. But going up stairs and proceeding with the caution necessary to stem windedness, which necessarily dropped us back of the pack, we could see the legs in all their glory. By the way, are skirts running shorter this season?

OUR INNATE modesty caused us at first to avert our eyes before the display of legs, but as a measure of safety a man has to keep his peepers open and watch his step going up stairs or riding an escalator, especially one who is none so sure footed, anyway, so we just naturally had to look at the legs.

Then, presently, we became entranced by their uniform beauty. It is true that of late years we have made no general canvass of the municipalities of the United States on ladies' legs, but after negotiating several stairways and a couple of escalators in Jersey City we decided no other city in the country can offer a greater display.

Even Betty Grable would have a tough time running in the money on the escalator in Journal Square. That is, going up. Now we know why so many New York fellows like to live in Jersey City.

WE MUST say, however, that beautiful as are the ladies' legs in Jersey City, the men's gams are no bargain. Tony Galento's legs look as if they were put on upside down. It may be argued that Tony belongs to the Oranges and not to Jersey City proper, but everything beyond the tubes is Jersey City to us. That is because of our loyalty to Mayor Frank Hague.

We rather liked the democracy of Jersey City as expressed at the Galento-Baer affair. Many of the assembled Jersey Cityans gave Galento a right hearty booing when he appeared in the premises. Only in America can this freedom and impartiality of booing exist. In a dictatorship you might get away with booing Mayor Hague, but a boo for Tony Galento would probably land you in a concentration camp.

Ireland on Hot Spot

The old saying that England's difficulty is Ireland's opportunity may be rewritten. Ireland's difficulty may be Hitler's opportunity.

When the Irish Free State adopted a constitution declaring itself independent in 1937 an existing state of affairs merely was being recognized. Great Britain and Eire, the country's new name under the constitution, reached an agreement in a series of treaties which are now their only tie.

In these treaties, which ended the British-Irish tariff war, Eire paid a lump sum to indemnify for stoppage of the former land annuity payments. Great Britain gave up its 1921 treaty right to occupy certain Irish ports for joint naval defense, but was promised by Prime Minister De Valera that Eire would never allow Irish soil to become a base of attack against Great Britain.

This guarantee of safety now begins to look like a grim joke at the common expense of the Irish and British. It is viewed as a certainty that Ireland, virtually without power to defend itself, will be used by Germany in its attempt to invade Great Britain. With two governments functioning in Eire, unified defense is impossible. Any attempt to garrison the island with British soldiers would be resisted, of course. During the World war most of Ireland went into open revolt against British rule and declared independence—but there was no imminent danger of invasion then by a power which would be hostile to both Irishmen and Englishmen then.

Only Irish defense solution offered so far is to garrison the island with assorted troops from Poland, Czechoslovakia and other conquered nations. It seems unlikely, however, that Adolf Hitler will wait to see if something along this line can be worked out to the satisfaction of all concerned.

Anecdotes of Ohio

By GILBERT F. DODDS

Theodore D. Weld held no public office, published no speeches under his own name, yet historians today assert he was one of the great figures of his time, measured by the abolitionist influence he exerted in Ohio.

As early as 1836 Weld began his "missionary" work by selecting 70 young men and women to whom he gave several weeks of training in abolition. This "class of 70" became the nucleus of a consolidated anti-slavery movement in Ohio and the north.

Many converts to the abolition cause resulted from a debate between Weld and Rev. Charles G. Finney, a revivalist. Weld not only won the debate but added many followers from the college students in the audience.

For the most part Weld reserved his speech-making for small villages, away from the press notice. He won over the entire faculty of Western Reserve university and, indirectly, the student body.

uld ask universal training—for e are all our ll our women n uniforms and s and our nation ner under the Fu of military domi defense of course inquire whether necessary to ob- e if in fact t objective and r there may be in defense for entance of this pro e

at war is raging nate It will hardly fo me to remind n this c un- persons and are and have been ng possible to get Would not the universal compul- ice at this time mongers to maneuver us closer to that holocaust? It is not a coincidence that those who advocate our entrance into the war are largely the same group who advocate universal compulsory military service?

Indeed we can scarcely avoid the conviction after hearing and reading the rash statements of Mr Roosevelt or the spokesmen of his administration, that it has only been because we have not had the compulsory military program they now urge upon us that we have not been catapulted into the war If we had had a large standing army there is little doubt that the necessary incident or excuse would have been found for declaring war

Factor of Unemployment

Another condition that doubtless has caused considerable pressure to adopt universal compulsory military service—at this time—is the unemployment situation For seven years the present administration has been promising to put the unemployed back to work Today with an election in the offing that failure is entirely too conspicuous. In Europe Hitler and Mussolini promised to put the unemployed back to work They did—in army and labor camps and now the sequel—war

Is America now to import the system of Hitler and Mussolini? Is this to be the fate of the CCC boys the NYA boys and girls WPA workers and millions of idle young folks who today walk the streets looking into a bleak and hopeless future? Are these now to be herded into compulsory labor armies and military service? Americans I ask you is this our solution?

There is still another condition that is causing many persons to consider compulsory military service as a remedy It is at last beginning to dawn upon our nation that communism is becoming a real threat to our economy and government We are finally beginning to understand our greatest danger is not from the Communist party and its affiliates or from Russia or other foreign places but from the development of communistic schemes ideas and plans within our own government and institutions We are beginning to realize the strength and power of these forces and their threat to the American way of life

Strange to say there are those who urge compulsory military service on the ground that it would help to protect us against the communism that has already developed within our government This I believe is a most fallacious and dangerous de

Advocates of Regimentation

Our government is already literally saturated with people who advocate and strive for complete political planning and regimentation of all labor agriculture and industry for the complete overthrow of private property right and its replacement by political control and ownership of all the means of production in short for everything Stalin practices in the name of communism

There is no reason to believe that by further regimenting our people we could hope to overcome the bureaucratic regimentation and control that has been built up in our government Especially as there would be great danger that the military regimentation would be in control of these self same forces

There is but one way to combat the communism within our government That is for the free people of this nation to demand the destruction of the giant bureaucracy that has fastened itself upon us free labor agriculture and industry from the political shackles that are destroying them

I challenge anyone to cite a single instance where communism was even checked in the slightest by universal compulsory military service and a large standing army in peace time

Did compulsory military service in peace time protect France against the spread and growth of communism? It certainly did not save her democracy At the same time that she was building the finest army in the world she drifted strongly into communism.

Look at Latin America It teems with communism. Nearly all of these countries have compulsory military service Certainly there is no evidence any where in that land that this ism has been checked by it. Mexico is a good example She has the military scheme nevertheless she goes more and more communistic Stalin uses compulsory military service to destroy democracy

Indeed, the world has long recognized the close relation that exists between militarism and communism if not that they are the same

There are also some among us who believe that compulsory military service might act as a means to lessen strikes and labor troubles All I can say on this point is—Heaven forbid that we shall ever resort to any measures of this kind for such a purpose

Basis of Action

Naturally whatever means we shall finally decide may be necessary for our national defense must be predicated upon our foreign policy Is this nation now to be committed to the old system of militarism and imperialism in order to force our South American neighbors to accept our protection? What means shall we use to enforce any voluntary agreements as to protection or trade in case any of these nations wish to withdraw or fail to live up to their contracts?

It is well known that many of our neighbors below the Rio Grande do not have a very friendly feeling toward the United States that they fear our power and imperialism more than they fear Europe The peoples in these Latin countries have little in common with our people their laughuage their culture is European Europe has been the big purchaser of South American agricultural products which we naturally are unable to buy since we already have a surplus Their governments while called Republican are actually more dictator than otherwise and fascism and communism are strongly entrenched in most of them Germany has been able with her barter system and other devices to obtain a large share of South American trade

Can anyone foretell what dangers or complications may result if the United States attempts to force her will on these people

Sooner or later America must realize that no system of defense will be adequate if she continues the suicidal policy of meddling in other people's affairs throughout the world Such a policy if continued will doubtless call for universal compulsory military training and all that goes with imperialism

We should be reminded that a big standing army and military force has always been a temptation to rulers and the heads of governments to use it to increase their own power and to make themselves appear great Seldom have they failed to use it for this purpose

Last but not least what about our first line of defense which now is so very sick? I refer to the state of our national finances? A military arm can never be any stronger than the finances of a nation

The sinews of war the kind and quantity of all the supplies to the army in the field depend on the state of health of the national finances Only a treasury that is in a sound state of health can possibly keep an army supplied with the right kind of things and enough of them

That our finances are in bad shape all of us know There is no doubt the burden of national debt is becoming so heavy that we cannot bear much more

What good can it do us if we have the biggest fleet and army in the world but cannot manage the means to support them?

Problem of Cost

The cost in dollars and the loss of productive energy, if universal compulsory military service and a large standing army in peace time were established would be appalling Instead of strengthening our defenses it would only weaken them

It is the nature of this military program to create a caste system where the more cunning and richer are on top giving orders, while the less artful and poorer are kept at the bottom doing the fighting

The Burke-Wadsworth Bill that proposes this plan starts out by doing this It provides for exempting

> Men whose employment in industry agriculture or other occupations of employment or whose work in engineering chemistry physics medicine, or dentistry are found to be necessary to the maintenance of the national health safety or interest '

Would this not exempt the richer groups, those who have been more fortunate in having enough money to educate and train themselves in the skilled trades and higher vocations? Oh what an opportunity this would provide for political pull and favoritism!

Among other officials of the government, congressmen too are exempted Ditch diggers are not. This proves to me there is something wrong with this proposal. I have always thought ditch diggers do a pretty good job draining our fields. I am not so sure we congressmen do as well in discharging our duties.

We dare not let this pass I wish to emphasize that it would be especially dangerous under the present ominous conditions

1 It would be a most effectual means to push us all the way into the war

2 It would be adopting Hitler's plan for ending unemployment

3 It would put the young manhood and womanhood of our country under the military control of the communistic forces that now dominate our government,

4 It would further weaken our first line of defense by wrecking still more our finances

5 It would create a caste system where political corruption and favoritism would be rampant

6 It would be about the last thing we need to complete a communistic dictatorship

There is no more need now for this program than there ever was What is needed in America today is more honest-to-God statesmanship and less politics When we have this we shall have no trouble providing adequate national defense without resorting to the European system of universal compulsory military service and standing armies in peace time

I thank you

France He does not want a greatly weakened France He wants France as a partner against a Germany which is becoming far too powerful for Italy's interests Laval one of the new triumvirate ruling France and Mussolini see eye to eye They have seen eye to eye for a long time

Herr Hitler also dreams of a Roman Empire—only his Roman Empire is the Empire of Charlemagne the Roman Empire of the German Nation that inherited Rome after its collapse

Already in Spain we can see a conflict between the two conceptions In that unhappy country the German Gestapo is working for a German-controlled Spain while Franco's brother in law Serano Suner though he is outwardly cooperative with the Germans is secretly hostile to the domination exercised there by the Nazis

The eventual interests of Germany Italy and Russia clash on the Adriatic in the Balkans in the Near East on the Black Sea Hitler will certainly get through to the Adriatic In a speech which he made before the outbreak of the war Hitler laid claim to the whole former empire of Charlemagne by innuendo at least and he certainly and openly laid claim to the whole world of the old Austro Hungarian Empire except for the lands south of the Brenner on the actual Italian Peninsula These he reliquished formally and from these he has been repatriating the German population

DEMOCRATS ARRIVE BUT STILL IN DARK

Party Leaders on Way with Destination Unknown

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO July 12—Delegates to the Democratic national convention began moving into town today—but as uncertain of their ultimate destination as a ship's crew whose captain has sealed orders in his pocket

Most of them predicted President Roosevelt would take a third term nomination if it is handed to him These included such erstwhile rivals as Gov E D Rivers of Georgia and Senator Lucas of Illinois

But the group of sturdy Texans that has backed Vice President Garner for the presidency stuck stubbornly to their predictions that Mr Roosevelt would not be a candidate

CHAPTER SIXTEEN

Death Warrant

WE DROVE to the club. Jeff came in very soon with an air of being quite alone but with the chaplain at his heels. [illegible] shortly refused an invitation to join us and went upstairs. Chaplain [illegible] lingered, softening his [illegible] refusal, making manful attempts to prove himself a good fellow in spite of his cloth, and finally taking his departure [illegible] concealed relief.

[illegible] as Gerald [illegible] grinned [illegible]. The [illegible] breeze [illegible] and [illegible] idea [illegible] Adam [illegible] on the office bea[illegible]

The [illegible] agree Gerald Adam [illegible] lounge [illegible] and said [illegible] the garage [illegible]

[illegible] Sandra and Ivan [illegible]

Someone on the barge [illegible] Julia said presently and [illegible] against [illegible] other man or [illegible] was too [illegible] that we [illegible] I think we [illegible] a man be[illegible] the [illegible] the scene. And af[illegible] had discussed [illegible] longer sure [illegible] realized that there [illegible] than one [illegible] had been [illegible] and no [illegible]

[illegible] or per[illegible] and it was [illegible] ten minutes [illegible] of the car we heard [illegible] slammed shut and [illegible]

"Where's Ivan?"

[illegible] afraid that [illegible] would not get [illegible] and turned la[illegible]

[illegible] his ignition [illegible] but later Julia [illegible] was Mimi's [illegible]

[illegible] accepted [illegible]

[illegible] and Ge[illegible] Gerald asked [illegible] neared the qua[illegible] an extra [illegible]

[illegible] up from the club [illegible] He saw us and [illegible] before Ger[illegible] away.

[illegible] asked, peering into the car as if he expected to find him there.

[illegible] Julia [illegible] him. [illegible] sudden de[illegible] company.

He's not [illegible] Sandra called up about ten minutes ago—she thought he was over here.

Kay, it must be you—I'm sure I'm not feminine enough to make him run [illegible] Sandra. [illegible] get away from her? Climb out [illegible]

He didn't get away from her. He didn't come home with her. It seems to be one of those foolish misunderstandings. We thought he was [illegible] them, they thought he [illegible]

[illegible] goodby[illegible] said Julia. He got left.

Then where is he? demanded Gerald practically. He wasn't on the beach just now or he would have seen our car lights and joined us.

That was a break, commented Julia.

He must have tried to walk home, Adam sounded worried. I suppose he's lost out there somewhere.

Julia burst into song:

Though the dark of night I go to go where you are
If it's wrong or right I got to go where you are
Ain't no chains can bind you
if you live I'll find you

Shut up, said Gerald kindly, and climb in the rumble seat. What you need is a little ride in the night air to cool your beautiful head.

Adam said, The girls better go in and go to bed. This may take some time. Probably have to turn out a detail of men.

Bed? asked Julia indignantly. With the night but a pup? Don't be an old granny.

Supine Form

I was getting to know every rut in that road. We did not stop at the barge this time but drove on for a mile or two through territory I had never explored, stopping from time to time to honk the horn and listen for an answering call.

In case he got turned around and started walking the wrong way, Adam remarked.

But except for the purring of the motor and the [illegible] of [illegible] in the [illegible] beside the road there was no sound.

Perhaps he'd be going back to the barge, Gerald suggested. If she he had a date there, said Fred [illegible] the idea. That would explain why he kept quiet and stayed away from us. And then I remembered about Mimi's [illegible] could have [illegible] my guess.

By Jove—the person who came to the barge, agreed Gerald [illegible] call [illegible] told Adam [illegible]

But [illegible] it was [illegible] as long [illegible] decided [illegible] Julia was not saying anything.

[illegible] better [illegible] way to [illegible] Adam suggested.

I don't think so, said Gerald. Neither did I, but we could give no reason except [illegible] one that [illegible] choices.

And so we went back after all to the barge, Adam lighting our way with his flashlight, and single [illegible] the [illegible] added and walked the narrow deck. And in the black deep hold the light of the flash found not the mirrored [illegible] but the supine form of the one who had been [illegible] with a rim of black water across his face.

According to the [illegible] I read in French [illegible] an infallible method of solving a crime. They follow the essential clue. It sounds very simple. The only part I can't [illegible] they can distinguish the [illegible] confusion of [illegible] from the [illegible]. Once [illegible] it seems to me that the puzzle is as good as solved.

For instance, it's easy to look back now and see that Sandra and Ivan between them practically signed his death warrant that night. But how could anyone not gifted with second sight have deduced that from the events which took place? Even Sandra at that time must have had no suspicion that she was playing with dynamite. It is less easy to see why she was not warned by Ivan's death. But there was her obsession and her essential stupidity.

Stupidity may be too strong a word. She was clever about getting what she wanted, about winning people. As she seemed to have won Colonel Pennant and Mimi, as she must have won Jeff's mother and father. Julia had told me with some bitterness only a few days before that Colonel Tacy had made Sandra beneficiary of his ten thousand dollar [illegible] insurance policy.

This is about all most army officers leave, she explained. He owned besides a house in Memphis, heavily mortgaged, and the farm in the Ozarks. He left those to Jeff, who can't find anyone who wants to buy either one. And Sandra didn't need the money—She had ten thousand from her own father that she got control of when she was eighteen. Oh, I know she couldn't live in luxury on the income of ten thousand but it would have kept her until she got a job or a husband.

Good husbands come high, I told her. Twenty gets you better than ten.

I was sorry the instant I said it but I needn't have been, for she seemed a little comforted.

I'd rather think he's marrying her for her money, she confessed, than because he's in love with her. Only—I know it isn't the money. Jeff isn't that sort.

I remembered that conversation later when the question of inheritance assumed grave importance.

Quicker Ways To Make War Planes Soon Will Speed U. S. Production

By LEVON FRANCIS
[illegible] Press Aviation Editor

[illegible] July [illegible] — [illegible] together [illegible] [illegible] war planes, which promise to accelerate manufacture as the nation drives for a production rate of 50,000 machines a year is well beyond the experiment stage in our aircraft factories.

The sewing is an effective spot welding process for the aluminum alloys which go into almost all modern warplanes.

This does not mean that the aircraft plants will begin turning out machines by the wholesale next week or even next year.

Bottlenecks Overcome

It does not mean that [illegible] slowly the plants are overcoming some of the manufacturing bottlenecks now becoming evident as the government seeks to gear [illegible] to national defense needs.

The old method, which is the riveting together of metal plates by small armies of skilled and semi-skilled workmen, is a production bottleneck which has grown up over a long period of years. Fast methods of fabricating [illegible] themselves readily to the manufacture of planes in small lots of 100 or 200.

Each aluminum alloy rivet—there are [illegible]0,000 of them in a medium weight bomber — was heated and then put in a dry ice refrigerator [illegible]. It is a characteristic of the metal that heating and sudden cooling will make it soft and workable. Being [illegible] from the refrigerator and tapped into a plane's fuselage, wings or control surfaces, the rivet expands and hardens.

The spot welds take the place of rivets. This art has taken time to develop.

Now the spot welding of aluminum alloys is cutting down both manufacturing costs (by reducing the number of man hours per plane) and the total period required to complete a plane. One of the new Army [illegible] dive bombers, the Douglas [illegible] [illegible] has a [illegible] completely spot welded and [illegible] wings partly spot welded.

Long Time Arriving

It took [illegible] [illegible] aircraft industry [illegible] other industries [illegible] aluminum alloys [illegible] [illegible] though [illegible] less [illegible] [illegible] the amount [illegible] of the electric [illegible].

The development of an electronic control for timing the current [illegible] the worst of the [illegible].

Other [illegible] are [illegible] being [illegible] to [illegible] of [illegible] 50,000 [illegible] a year. [illegible] borrowing [illegible] from Detroit to increase their efficiency.

[illegible] North American [illegible] [illegible] Kindelberger [illegible] engineering field more nearly approximates an automobile plant in production methods than any others I have seen. It was built for large [illegible] orders of planes.

Kindelberger's first production [illegible] is the manufacture of one type of plane. Most of the other plants [illegible] mixed types [illegible] which slows up the [illegible] output.

Kindelberger's workmen do not [illegible] the stockroom for small parts like nuts and bolts. The nuts and bolts are fed right to the pieces of metal where they [illegible]. That saves time [illegible].

[illegible] Kindelberger [illegible] the idea of cutting a large number of metal sheets of the same shape with the same cutting tool at the same time. Prior to that the sheets were hand cut one at a time.

Speed, metal parts and better production engineering are due to play important roles in our air [illegible].

Ask Higher Court To Review Bank Holdup Trial

Appeals from life imprisonment sentences they are now serving at Ohio penitentiary have been filed in the district court of appeals at Cincinnati by Loan Phillips, Ma[illegible] [illegible] man and Elmer Whitt, former Marionite, convicted in a recent $30,110 Cincinnati bank holdup.

Notice that the appeal is to be made on questions of law has been filed in the appellate court [illegible] with an assignment of errors. Joint appeal proceedings for the two men were prepared and filed through the Marion law firm of Mouser & Mouser.

The two men charge the judge of the Hamilton county common pleas court erred in overruling a motion for a decision favorable to the convicted men and in permitting certain evidence to be introduced at the trial. They charge the state failed to prove them guilty beyond a reasonable doubt.

The convicted men also have filed answers in Cincinnati court to suits brought against them by the Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland in connection with a previous bank holdup. They make general denials of the company's allegations and ask that the suits be dismissed. They also have filed a motion in the same proceedings asking that attachment proceedings filed by the Fidelity & Deposit Co. to seize their property be discharged.

Reds, Able To Win When Chips Are Down, Stop Dodgers In Night Gam

Rhinelanders Build Lead to 1½ Games; Cleveland Regains Top Spot.

By BILL WHITE
Associated Press Sports Writer

If you're looking for contrasts [illegible] the gloom along the Gowanus in Brooklyn and [illegible] along Fountain Square in Cincinnati?

Today the Rhineland burghers are making overtures toward the ticket windows marked "advance sale—world series" out in Ohio, while the [illegible] march on Flatbush avenue, for the handwriting on the wall looks suspiciously like the Reds are in a fair way to repeat their 1939 pennant drive.

Win With Chips Down

Not that last night's 6-5 victory over the Dodgers automatically gives them the championship — but it shows once again that the Reds always seem to be ready when the chips are down.

Brooklyn, fired up by a double loss to the Reds before the All-Star holiday and determined to get back on top and stay there, shot the works in an attempt to win—but the mastery of Bucky Walters was not to be denied.

With first place at stake, Cincinnati sluggers jumped on three Flatbush hurlers, Whitlow Wyatt, Tot Pressnell and Vito Tamulis, for 11 hits but it was anybody's game until the last.

A walk, a wild throw and Joe Medwick's long fly gave Brooklyn two runs in the first inning. The Reds scored three times in their half of the round.

Another Dodger run was counted in the second, on Pee Wee Reese's single, to tie the score. Then Wyatt and Walters settled down into a pitching duel in which Bucky allowed only one hit in [illegible] innings.

The Reds scored a run in the sixth and another in the seventh after [illegible] relieved Wyatt. Spurred by Dixie Walker's double the Dodgers counted two runs in the eighth on [illegible] double, a [illegible] single and [illegible].

The Reds [illegible] the winning tally [illegible] when Goodman singled in Eddy Joost.

That put the Reds out in front by a game and a half and [illegible] Giants [illegible] St. Louis [illegible] Dodgers. The [illegible] on two hits, a walk and two errors by [illegible] George [illegible] for two runs.

In the other National league doings the Boston Bees and the Chicago Cubs split a double bill. Sebastian Sisti's long fly in the 10th scored Eddie Miller for a 2-1 Boston Bee victory after Bill Nicholson's three-run homer helped the Cubs win the first game 4-2.

The Philadelphia-Pittsburgh game was postponed by rain.

Rolfe In Comeback

Biggest news in the American league was Red Rolfe's eyesight and its wondrous cure. The redhead has been bothered with a minor eye ailment. He found a new prescription yesterday—and promptly belted out two triples and a homer to pace the Yanks to a 6-4 win over the St. Louis Browns.

The see-saw American league first-place race kept up its dizzy doings. The Cleveland Indians, on homers by Ben Chapman, Lou Boudreau and Ken Keltner, beat the Athletics 8-5 and went into the top spot. Young Sid Hudson of the Washington Senators scattered nine hits to down the Detroit Tigers, 7-3 and drop them from the top lead.

Bobby Doerr, Boston second sacker, "celebrated" his being dropped to seventh place in the batting order by belting a 13th inning home run to give the Red Sox a 3-2 decision over the Chicago White Sox in the day's longest duel.

German and Italian Heavies Booked for Monday Mat Show

Dick Shikat, Teutonic Giant, Due for First Visit Here; To Battle Fred Carone.

Two top heavyweights, whose names and careers are well-known among mat fans from coast-to-coast, are booked to appear in Marion next week for the top battle on the Monday night wrestling card. They are Dick Shikat, giant German battler, and Fred Carone of Italy.

Shikat, who was born in Tilsit, East Prussia, comes here from Detroit, where in recent weeks he has been [illegible] other of this country's leading heavyweights. He was one of four brothers who took part in the World war as a member of a gun crew on the warship, Crown Prince. Dick did his first wrestling with the navy.

Shikat Weighs 215

His size, and he tips the scales at 215 pounds, combined with his strength and natural ability took him to the top and he won the championship of the navy. He turned to the professional game in 1921, and four years later walked off with honors in a world's championship tournament conducted in Philadelphia, Pa. He won over such figures as Steel, Desek, Steinke, Londos and Plestina.

He dropped the crown and after a visit to his homeland returned to United States to regain it in a battle at Madison Square Garden in New York City. This time he flattened Danno O'Mahoney, the famed Irish ringster, in the quick and decisive time of 18 minutes.

Shikat will have a slight weight advantage when he steps into the ring against Carone. The Italian weighs 210 and fans who saw him here early last month were impressed with the mighty wallop he packs. He made short work of Frankie Wolfe of Australia and stood out as the class of a well-rounded card. The meeting of Shikat and Carone will be over 90 minutes with two falls to win.

Semi-Finalists Named

From the Scandinavian countries come both of the contestants billed in the 45-minute semi-final, Gus Johnson of Sweden and Paavo Ketonen of Finland. Ketonen, a rugged lad, who has shown plenty of all-around ring ability was in action here last week. He paired with Buck Weaver to win a featured four-man team match. His opponent, although not so well-known among local mat-goers, has been here several times. Johnson has many ardent fans, won by his courageous and skillful scrapping.

Cagey Dick Trout of Los Angeles meets the New York City flash, Lefty Pacer, in the 20-minute preliminary. Trout, who's a lightning fast worker when he's in the ring, stopped Bull Marino in consecutive falls here last week. Their match goes on first to open the show at 8:30. The card will be held at the Uncapher avenue outdoor arena.

Action Supplied by Columbus, Milwaukee and Louisville.

By The Associated Press

The battle for third place continues to provide the chief excitement in the American Association.

With Kansas City leading the league by five games and Minneapolis holding second by eight and a half, the real action is being provided by Louisville, Columbus and St. Paul.

Columbus scored its fifth straight victory last night, a 3 to 0 decision at the expense of the skidding Millers, and advanced within one game of third place Louisville.

St. Paul lost ground, falling before Toledo, 5 to 4, after taking [illegible] three in a row. The victory permitted Toledo to hop out of the cellar which went to Indianapolis when the Indians lost their sixth straight, to Kansas City, 14 to 3.

Stan Bordagaray, Kansas City outfielder, equaled an Association record in the [illegible] by getting six hits in six tries. He also scored five runs.

Indian Sluggers Bombard A's, 8-5 Feller Goes After 14th Win Tonig

By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA, July 12—Recapturing their slugging strength and first place at the same time enhanced the prospects of a successful eastern tour for the Cleveland Indians, who try tonight to make it two in a row over the Athletics.

Bob Feller was Cleveland's nominee for mound duty under the lights. Seeking his 14th victory, he was slated to work against Johnny Babich.

Swinging bats into early season hitting form, the Tribe clubbed Chubby Dean and Ed Heusser for 13 hits to take the first of its 16-game eastern series 8 to 5 yesterday.

Ben Chapman, leading off in a batting order shake-up, set the pace by blasting a homer in the first inning. Lou Boudreau moved to the No. 3 batting spot and Ken Keltner also got [illegible] smashes, the latter coming when two men were on bases.

Boudreau's performance indicated the troublesome third spot might be filled. The seventh [illegible] to fill the position this season, he got a double and a single as well as his homer. The shortstop figured in three double plays.

Southpaw Al Milnar was credited with the victory, his [illegible] although he retired as the Athletics turned on the pressure in the sixth inning. Joe Dobson [illegible] and allowed only one [illegible]

Tips on Baseball:

How To Play First Base

By HAROLD TROSKY
CLEVELAND INDIANS STAR

If you can reach out and spear 'em you have a good start toward being a first baseman. Good hands and strong legs are two big requisites—and if you're left handed and can boast three or four extra inches in height that's all velvet. For, believe me, you have to stretch—stretch and keep on stretching when you play that first sack.

Here are a few other things you should have or start developing if you're considering being a first baseman:

You must remember that you're to always set up a target for the infielders. Learn where that bag is and develop a feel for it. You'll find that with practice you'll be able to stab a throw on either side of the bag and in the same motion stick out a foot and hit the bag. There will be times when a throw is so wild you have to sacrifice the putout to get it—but get it whatever happens.

Get Baseline Bunts

To field first properly you should combine a knowledge of the relative positions of each infielder and a fairly accurate line on the batter. You team up with the pitcher on many plays—tossing him the ball about shoulder height as he comes into the bag after you've been pulled off to field the hit. Bunts down the baseline are yours to field. You also team up with him on handling base runners. It's your job to hold the runner close to the bag by standing just in front of it, left foot near the foul line. A quick throw, low and hard, may catch many napping runners.

Now about signals. You must clearly understand when the pitcher is going to toss a pitchout to the catcher. On such plays I often fake as if to go in for a bunt, whirl and dart back to the bag in time for a hard throw from the catcher. Many a base runner is caught off first with this maneuver.

One of your tasks is to act as cut-off man on all throws to the plate except those made after hard singles to the left field side of second base. Another responsibility of yours is acting as backstopper to second base on all the throws from the left side of the infield and when the bases are unoccupied.

Southpaws Have Advant

Now, the reason for those good hands and strong legs. You need good hands because you must necessarily be a good ball handler. Legs are important because you take a lot of punishment around first base.

And being left handed is obviously an advantage because you can make throws to the left side of the infield without having to do a pivot to get into the proper throwing position.

It's a tough job all right, requiring headwork, teamwork and a keen sense of fundamental baseball. But I like it and I think you will.

FREMONT TEAM IN TIFF OVER CHANGE OF PILOTS

By The Associated Press

FREMONT O July 12—Owners of the Fremont Green Sox of the Ohio State baseball league fought sharp dissention in the ranks today over a managerial shake-up ousting Ray Caldwell one-time Cleveland Indians pitcher and replacing him with Garland (Luke) Sewell Veteran Sox second sacker

A threatened strike of nine players was thwarted last night when rain cancelled a game at Findlay The men demanded Caldwell's return before they would take the field Business Manager A O Baumann said the ouster would not be reconsidered and "events must take their course"

In games last night the league-leading Lima Pandas crushed Tiffin 19-8 and Mansfield downed cellar-dwelling Fostoria 11-2

Boston Wool

By The Associated Press

MARKET GIVEN LITTLE BACKING

Leaders Drift Idly as Trends Are Slow To Develop in Listless Trading.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, July 12—Traders searched unsuccessfully for definite stock market trends today as leading issues generally idled in narrow territory.

Despite prospects for business, heavy defense spending, less onerous taxes on munitions manufacturers and the realization record amounts of static capital are seeking investment opportunities, share buyers, brokers said, apparently were unable to shake off their timidity.

Bonds and commodities were uneven. "Free" sterling displayed steadier tendencies.

Stocks on the upside occasionally included Bethlehem Steel, Woolworth, Sears Roebuck, United Aircraft, Glenn Martin, Westinghouse, American Can, American Smelting, American Telephone, Standard Oil of N. J. and Goodyear.

A hopeful sign was observed in reports that residential building operations are keeping well ahead of the previous year.

WHEAT PRICE DOWN FRACTION AT CLOSE

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO—July 12 — Wheat prices declined fractionally today and closed at the lowest level since the first day of the European war, last September 1.

Selling came from dealers hedging new grain and from interests who based their action on improved moisture conditions in the domestic spring wheat belt. Earlier in the session forecast of clearing weather caused purchasing which lifted values almost a cent at times.

Wheat closed unchanged to ⅛ lower compared with yesterday's finish, July 72⅞-⅝, September 73⅝-¾; corn ⅛-¼ down, July 61¼-⅛, September 57⅞-¾; oats unchanged to ⅛ higher.

WOMAN FOUND DEAD IN HOME AT AGOSTA

Mrs. Princess Miller Stricken Suddenly; Funeral Sunday.

Mrs. Princess A. Miller, 79, a lifelong resident of Agosta community, was found dead at noon yesterday in a chair in the kitchen of her home at the north edge of Agosta. Coroner M. F. Axthelm was expected to give a verdict this afternoon.

A neighbor who called at the home found Mrs. Miller. The sons, Carl W. Miller of 308 Silver street, and Ernest T. Miller of near Marion were summoned and they called a funeral director.

Advised that it appeared to have been a death due to a heart attack, an attempt was made to reach Coroner Axthelm, but in his absence Deputy Sheriff Gene Geissler went to the home and released the body for funeral preparations.

From appearances, Mrs. Miller apparently died while eating breakfast, it was reported. It is believed death was due to a heart attack or a stroke of apoplexy.

Mrs. Miller was born in Montgomery township, near Agosta, on April 24, 1861, daughter of Ashbell and Sophia Elland Tuttle. She was married at Agosta on July 9, 1880 to Curtis M. Miller who died April 23, 1901.

Surviving with the sons are seven grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Friends may call at the M. H. Gunder & Sons funeral home on West Center street until 1 p. m. Saturday and at the home after 2. The funeral will be conducted Sunday at 2 p. m. at the Agosta Methodist church of which Mrs. Miller had been a member for 67 years. Rev. Erwin Bailey, pastor, will be in charge. Burial will be made in the Agosta cemetery.
